POV:AEON

SHARE YOUR POV WITH US

In the upcoming edition we are looking at time and all the incredible ways we can capture it. Like the Greek deity Aion we want to run around naked with the orb that encompasses the universe and get to know what you think about eternity, circulations, generations, centuries, and seconds. The topic is aeon - the notion that points at time in large, life-overcoming units. We invite you to join our past, present, and future measured in one billion years.

We are looking for submissions of any form or discipline.

POVZINE strives for sincere, relevant, fun, honest content that reflects on your current questions, answers, problems, limitations, obsessions, and so on. Be it a recipe, an essay, a gif, a poem, a movement, a drawing, a voice message, or a photo - give it a go! We encourage all emerging as well as professional artists, researchers, and creatives to participate.

The call allows all artistic forms and formats, ranging from object, photography, painting, drawing, animation, video, and audio work (music, sound, or speech), as well as performance or writing - all are welcome.
